SUMMARY OF LEGISLATIVE MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR

Delivered at a joint session of the General Assembly of North Carolina at 12:00 noon, February 4, 1965

Governor Moore presented his program to the General Assembly today in a 21-page "Legislative Message" which reviewed existing governmental programs and problems. The topics he covered in the written text (by order of presentation) were public education, higher education, State Highway Commission, road bonds, fiscal policy, industrial development, natural resources, health and welfare, correction and rehabilitation, court improvement, law and order, human relations, agriculture, banking and trade and commerce, utilities, science and technology, state ports, employment and job opportunity, minimum wage, federal-state programs, state employees, and highway safety.

In his delivery Governor Moore omitted parts of the prepared address but stated that this was done only in the interest of saving time. Specific recommendations made by Governor Moore in the course of his delivery included the following:

Public education: reducing school class sizes by designated amounts, increasing salaries of instructional personnel 5% in '65-'66 and 5% more in '66-'67, increasing guidance and remedial teachers, restoring the teacher continuing contract, extending principals' terms, relieving students and parents of fees, and strengthening the school lunch program.
Higher education: expanding institutions of higher learning and vocational training, strengthening the concept of the Consolidated University, creating the fourth campus at Charlotte, and a study by the General Assembly of the system of university trustees with every effort to equalize representation.
Highway Commission: a reorganization of the Highway Commission providing for full-time Chairman-Director and 14-member Commission.
Road bonds: a $300 million road bond issue ($150 million primary system, $75 million secondary and $75 million within municipalities) financed within present tax structure.
Taxes: tax increases opposed, and (revenue levels permitting) increased income tax exemptions recommended for dependents (upped from $300 to $600) and for persons over 65 in line with federal law.
Industrial development: need for closer relationship between Commerce and Industry Division with local communities and counties noted, along with current study of means of bringing this about.
Minimum wage: minimum wage increase to $1.00 favored, provided present exemptions maintained and marginal businesses and jobs are not eliminated; but General Assembly should make thorough study before changing law.
State employees: 10% pay raise for all state employees subject to Personnel Act recommended, plus study of adequacy of expense allowances and longevity pay, and review of unfilled vacancies and recently created new positions, with elimination of unnecessary positions.
Highway Safety: periodic auto inspection law recommended and further legislative recommendations are expected to follow; re-examination of administrative procedures in Highway Patrol and re-analysis of accident locations now underway.

Other specific recommendations, expressed in portions of the message which Governor Moore omitted in his delivery, included the following:

Court improvement: general endorsement of Courts Commission recommendations, especially uniform lower courts and uniform costs.
Agriculture: General Assembly study of tobacco production and acreage allotment urged, plus further state research efforts on health aspects.
Health and welfare: in addition to general support of health, welfare and mental health programs, recommends establishing two additional alcoholic rehabilitation centers, one in east and one in west, and change of existing policy denying treatment and care to some mentally retarded children under six.

Human relations: a study is being initiated on the role of state government in this area through such agencies as the Good Neighbor Council.
Banking, trade and commerce: any increase in legal interest rate would be opposed; careful consideration to enactment of Uniform Commercial Code requested.
Utilities: settlement between private power companies and electric cooperatives commended, and approval thereof by General Assembly, municipalities and other interested parties requested; Utilities Commission should be adequately constituted and staffed.
Federal-State programs: additional state funds or programs may be requested later if required to implement new federal legislation, such as Economic Opportunity Act and Appalachia Bill.
Labor: right-to-work laws should be retained.

Other remarks in the message included an expression of hope that the speaker ban law and North Carolina State name change issues be settled promptly without weakening the Consolidated University; notation of a request for Board of Higher Education recommendations on capital requests of higher learning institutions; reaffirmance of policy of offering new industries the same benefits and services now available to existing NC industries; reference to need for maintaining or accelerating natural resource programs, and to continued support for correction and rehabilitation programs, including probation and parole; reaffirmance of the principle of impartial enforcement of law and order; and a request for necessary action to further develop State Ports facilities.

Adds new chapter ("Judicial Department Act of 1965") whose purposes are to create District Court Division of General Court of Justice (GCJ), establish (activate) certain district courts therein, amend certain laws respecting Superior Court Division to conform them to provisions of this Act, provide for revenues and expenses of Judicial Department, and provide for orderly transition from present system of courts to uniform system completely operational in all counties of the State not later than Jan. 1, 1971. Vests judicial power of State (except for judicial power vested in Court for Trial of Impeachments, and judicial power vested in administrative agencies) exclusively in GCJ; but continues all existing courts below superior court level until specifically abolished by law, or until district court established in county of their situs, or until Jan. 1, 1971, whichever occurs first. GCJ consist of Appellate Division (Supreme Court; GS Ch. 7, Arts. 1-6 apply), Superior Court Division (GS Ch. 7, Arts. 7-11 apply), and District Court Division. CSC in exercise of his judicial powers is officer of Superior Court Division, not a separate court.

Jurisdiction: Except for probate of will and administration of estates, over which exclusive jurisdiction is retained by CSC, civil jurisdiction of trial divisions to be concurrent, but actions in which amount in controversy is $5000 or less properly brought in district court, and actions exceeding $5000 amount in controversy properly brought in superior court. Sets out rules for determining amount in controversy, with following exceptions: district court proper for annulment, divorce, alimony, child support and child custody, and superior court proper for injunctive or declaratory relief involving statutory or constitutional issues, special proceedings, mandamus and quo warranto remedies, condemnation, corporate receiverships and review of decisions of administrative agencies. Proper division may be waived by parties. Any party may move for transfer of pending action to proper division, under specified rules. Motions for transfer heard by superior court. Superior court judge may order transfer on own motion if action clearly in improper division. Transfer orders reviewable only on appeal from final judgment, and no reversal granted unless prejudice shown.

In criminal actions, superior court retains exclusive jurisdiction over felonies and may try misdemeanors which originated in superior court on felony indictment. District court has jurisdiction over misdemeanors and preliminary examinations. Magistrates have power 1) in non-traffic misdemeanors, if punishment cannot exceed $50 fine or 30-day confinement, to accept guilty pleas and enter judgment; 2) in traffic-offense misdmeanors, if offense on a list promulgated by chief district judge, to accept written appearances, waivers of trial and pleas of guilty; 3) to conduct preliminary hearings in any misdemeanor case; and 4) to issue warrants and grant bail. (Power of law enforcement officers to issue warrants and grant bail terminated in district court districts).

District court has exclusive original jurisdiction over juvenile matters, as defined in GS Ch. 110, Art. 2. Superior court has appellate jurisdiction over final judgments and orders of district court in civil cases involving matters of law, plus general supervision over proceedings of district court. Supreme Court review of suprior court judgments rendered on appealed district court judgments or orders limited to constitutional questions, cases certified by superior court judge as involving questions of importance and writs of certiorari. Rules specifying simplified appellate procedures set out. On appeal in criminal matters from judgments of district court, trial de novo, with jury. Magistrates authorized to perform any civil, quasi-judicial or ministerial function assigned by general law to office of justice of the peace.

District Court Division: Creates District Court Division consisting of thirty district court districts, with numbers and boundaries same as superior court judicial districts. District court to sit in county seat of each county, and at additional places in each county authorized by Gen. Assembly. Each district to have at least one judge, and one prosecutor, each county at least one magistrate. Gen. Assembly prescribes numbers of judges, and full-time assistant prosecutors (by districts), and numbers of magistrates (by counties).

HB 214 - Introduced by Vaughn and others
"To enact the Interstate Agreement on Detainers." [Cited agreement is enacted and entered into by State with all other jurisdictions legally joining therein in order to facilitate disposition of untried indictments, informations or complaints pending in a party state on basis of which detainer has been lodged against prisoner who has entered upon term of imprisonment in penal or correctional institution of another party state. Agreement provides generally that prisoner be brought to trial within 180 days after he makes written notice to prosecuting officer and criminal court of record that has jurisdiction of present place of imprisonment and request for final disposition of charges. Request of prisoner to be accompanied by certificate of official having custody setting out term of commitment, time served and other relevant matter. Person having custody of prisoner to inform prisoner of all detainers lodged against him and his rights under agreement and to promptly forward notices and requests for disposition and his certificate to appropriate prosecuting official and court. Prisoner's request for disposition of one detainer operates as request for disposition of all detainers lodged against him from that state and constitutes waiver of extradition and consent to production of his body in appropriate court and to be voluntarily returned to original place of imprisonment; escape subsequent to request voids request. Also provides generally that prisoner may be brought to trial within 120 days upon filing by prosecuting officer (with recorded approval of court having jurisdiction) of written request for temporary custody to appropriate officers of state of incarceration. The request shall be honored unless within 30 days the governor of sending state (on own motion or motion of prisoner) disapproves the request for temporary custody. Sets forth detailed procedures for delivery of prisoner to prosecuting state, trial, and return to state of incarceration. Act does not apply to any person adjudged mentally ill. Party state may withdraw at any time by repealing agreement, but withdrawal shall not affect status of proceedings already initiated. Each party state to designate officer to administer agreement; Governor authorized to designate NC officer. Effective July 1, 1965.] To Penal Institutions.

[Amends GS Ch's. 160, 62, 117, and 105 concerning topics indicated by title, as follows:

Service in and around municipalities: Adds new Art. 41 to GS Ch. 160, as follows: (1) Defines (a) "1ry supplier", as a municipal electric system (if one exists) or supplier serving within municipality pursuant to franchise or contract (including those holding over after expiration of franchise or contract); (b) "2ry supplier" as supplier (who is not a primary supplier) serving retail consumers within municipal limits, except that a restricted franchise or contract 1ry supplier shall be considered a 1ry supplier within an annexed area only with respect to classes of customers or types of service to which it is restricted by contract or franchise, and except that holdover franchise or contract suppliers subject to such restrictions shall be considered 2ry suppliers within annexed areas; (c) "Premises" as including several buildings used by one electric consumer, unless separately metered; and (d) "Line", as any distribution or transmission conductor within a municipality, other than conductor from nearest overhead pole or line tap (or underground transformer or junction point) to consumer's premises. (2) Prohibits service by 2ry suppliers without written consent of municipality and 1ry supplier -- within municipal limits on effective date of act, or within hereafter annexed areas on effective date of annexation, or within hereafter incorporated municipalities on date when primary supplier comes into being(hereafter referred to also as "effective date") -- except in following circumstances: (a) 2ry supplier entitled to continue to serve premises being served on relevant effective date. (b) 2ry supplier entitled to serve premises initially requiring service after effective date if premises located wholly within 300 ft. of its lines and wholly beyond 300 ft. from primary supplier's lines. (c) Premises are to be served by supplier chosen by consumer (and no other supplier thereafter without written consent of chosen supplier) where premises are initially served after effective date, as follows: (i) by consumer's choice between 2ry suppliers, where premises are located wholly within 300 ft. of each of two 2ry suppliers' lines but wholly beyond 300 ft. from 1ry supplier's lines; and (ii) by consumer's choice between 2ry or 1ry supplier, where premises are located wholly or partially within 300 ft. of 2ry and 1ry suppliers' lines, or where premises are located only partially within 300 ft. of 2ry supplier's lines and wholly beyond 300 ft. from 1ry supplier's lines. (d) 1ry supplier not to serve any premises which 2ry supplier is entitled to serve under (a), (b), or (c) (i) abov e without written consent thereof. (e) In the case of a municipality incorporated hereafter, all suppliers to keep pre-existing rights and restrictions until there is a 1ry supplier therein. (3) Precludes temporary service for construction of premises which supplier not entitled to serve if already constructed; any such temporary service not to impair rights of other suppliers later chosen by consumer. (4) Empowers NC Utilities Commission (hereafter, "UC") after notice and hearing (if requested) and upon finding that service (to be) furnished by 2ry supplier is or will be inadequate, or rates or service are discriminatory, to (a) order primary supplier subject to its jurisdiction to serve customer desiring his service and to order 2ry supplier to cease serving, and (b) to order 2ry supplier to cease serving premises if customer desires service from willing primary supplier not subject to UC jurisdiction. (5) Permits voluntary discontinuation of service by 2ry supplier or transfer of facilities to 1ry supplier within municipality, with approval of UC. Art. not to restrict police powers over facilities on public streets, nor to prevent present municipal system from serving its own municipal facilities, nor to prevent any other primary supplier from furnishing street lighting service to a municipality inside the municipality.

Utilities Commission powers: Amends various provisions of GS Ch. 62 as follows: (1) Adds GS 62-110.1 and -82 to require certification by UC of construction of all generating facilities for public utility services (including services of electric membership corporations) and to prescribe procedures for certification of such facilities, including notice, hearings (by full Comm.) briefing and argument, appellate procedure (opponent of award must post bond and recompense certificate holder if award affirmed). Makes proceedings subject to GS 62-99 (direct appeals to Supreme Court). (2) (a) Adds GS 62-110.2 to give every "electric supplier" (defined as any public utility furnishing electric service or any electric membership corporation) in areas outside municipalities -- and subject to (b) below-- rights to serve premises corresponding substantially to rights given "2ry suppliers" within municipal limits under provisions of this act amending GS Ch. 160 (above), and to give consumers corresponding choices of suppliers, with corresponding provisions concerning temporary service and savings provisions concerning self service and interchange energy, and with corresponding powers in UC to order service or cessation of service notwithstanding territorial provisions upon findings of inadequate service, discrimination, etc. (b) Directs UC, as soon as practicable after Jan. 1, 1966 and in order to avoid unnecessary duplication of facilities, to assign to electric suppliers service areas outside municipalities and more than 300 ft. from all existing lines, in accord with convenience and necessity, and to reassign areas either upon agreement of affected suppliers or (with certain exceptions) upon findings of convenience and necessity. (c) Authorizes territorial service contrary to above provisions to willing customers upon agreement among affected suppliers. (3) Amends GS 62-42 and GS 62-140 (relating respectively to compelling efficient service, and discriminatory rates and service) to define "public utility" as including an electric membership corporation operating in NC. Adds to GS 62-138 provision requiring electric membership corporations operating in NC to file rate schedules and service regulations and contracts with UC (and keep copies available for public inspection) under rules prescribed by UC.

Electric membership corporations: Amends various provisions of GS Ch. 117, Art. 2 (Electric Membership Corporations) as follows: (1) Adds GS 117-10.1 making electric membership corporations (EMC's) eligible to receive municipal franchises from municipalities in which EMC is sole supplier or supplies majority of retail meters. (2) Adds GS 117-10.2 restricting EMC service to or within incorporated municipalities to franchised service or service permitted by amendments of this act to GS Ch. 160 (above) or service by mutual written consent of municipality and all of its electric suppliers. (3) Adds GS 117-16.1 to prohibit discriminatory rates or service by EMC's to members, unreasonable differences of rates or services as between localities or classes of service, rebates or bonuses by EMC's, and misleading EMC practices. (4) Rewrites GS 117-19 (which now makes EMC properties subject only to taxes and assessments applicable to county or municipal property) to provide that: (a) Existing or future EMC's shall not hereafter be considered public agencies or political subdivs. (b) All EMC's operating in NC shall be subject to all State and local taxes and assessments applicable to NC electric light and power companies, except income taxes, beginning Jan. 1, 1967. (c) EMC's operating in NC shall make payments in lieu of property taxes on properties located within incorporated municipalities to such municipalities and to counties containing them, equivalent to 50% for 1965 and 100% for 1966, of ad val property taxes that would be paid on such properties if owned by fully taxable persons. (d) EMC's shall pay the State for privilege of engaging in business in incorporated municipalities from May 1, 1965 to Dec. 31, 1966 (or any part thereof) a 6% tax on gross receipts for electric business to or within such municipalities, less 6% of amounts paid with respect to sales to public utilities paying the 6% State franchise tax. Reporting, payment and collection provisions of GS 105-116 to apply; State to remit to municipalities same proportion of payments as provided in GS 105-116 with respect to power company taxes. (5) Amends GS 117-20 to allow EMC's to sell or encumber property or merchandise within municipal limits or representing not over 10% of assets value without complying with requirements of section. In lieu of GS 117-24 provision that assets of dissolved EMC's remaining after satisfaction of obligations shall pass to State, provides for distribution of such assets among members as provided by charter or bylaws. Repeals GS 117-27 (providing that GS Ch. 117, Art. 2 is complete in itself and controlling over other laws).

SUMMARY OF GOVERNOR'S BUDGET MESSAGE

of North Carolina at 10:00 a.m., March 19, 1965

Governor Moore delivered a 16-page Budget Message to the General Assembly today, recommending that the State spend from the General Fund $72,492,302 more than was recommended for the coming biennium in former Governor Sanford's "B Budget" plans presented on the first day of this legislative session. The added spending would be for teacher and State employee salary increases, additional capital outlays, the Governor's public school program, and a small increase in industrial promotion expenses.

As against the new expenditures Governor Moore projected revenue increases of $68,217,705. This leaves a minus budget balance of approximately $4-1/4 million, an imbalance which Governor Moore hopes will be removed during the Assembly's budget deliberations by some combination of economies and additional resources. Almost two-thirds of the increased revenues now estimated by Governor Moore are in the "General Fund" category, i.e., improved tax collection prospects. The remaining increases are assigned to additional income from the State Treasurer's investments; additional General Fund reversion estimates; a reduction in debt service requirements made possible by adjusting dates for repayment of principal on outstanding school and legislative bonds; and a nonrecurring "windfall" resulting from termination of a reserve fund for payment of tax refunds that was established in conjunction with the installation of personal income tax withholding in 1959.

The new budget recommendations are made on the assumption that no new taxes will be imposed by the General Assembly this year. Governor Moore recommends that "because of the very heavy demands upon all available tax resources [the Assembly] not make any tax reductions at this session".

The salary increase recommendations carry out his previous proposals for a 10% salary increase to all State employees under the Personnel Act and for an increase to public school instructional personnel of 5% effective this July and another 5% effective a year later. Total cost to the General Fund of these two items alone, including retirement and social security, is more than $50 million higher than the Sanford B Budget. The State employee pay increase would also cost the Highway Fund and Special Funds almost $17 million.

The public school recommendations implement the 7-point program proposed in the Governor's legislative message in February. They include a 3-student reduction of class size for grades 1-3; 85 additional remedial teachers for handicapped children; restoration of the teacher continuing contract; extension of principal's terms to 10-1/4 to 11 months per year; appropriations for supplementary grade school books, permitting elimination of book fees; and State support of the school lunch program if additional Federal aid for this purpose does not materialize. The total cost of these additional programs is over $10 million.

Governor Moore recommended that the nonrecurring withholding reserve windfall, amounting to $12 million, be added to the General Fund Capital Improvement Budget to meet the most pressing capital outlay needs. In light of this increment he specifically declined to recommend a capital improvement bond issue at this time.

In other particulars, Governor Moore recommended a $75,000 added appropriation for five regional offices of the Department of Conservation and Development to promote industrial development; renewed his recommendation for two additional alcoholic rehabilitation centers, with a suggestion for financing from the Capital Improvement Budget; concluded reluctantly that construction of college dormitories on a self-liquidating basis is necessary for the next two years; and suggested (in discussing priorities and possible economies) a careful appraisal by the Assembly of the Community College program.

A tabular resume of the Governor's recommendations is set forth on the back of this sheet.

[Repeals entire chapter 52 ("Married Women") and enacts new chapter 52 entitled "Powers and Liabilities of Married Persons." Enacts as new § 52-1 the provisions of Constitution Art. X, sec. 6 (approved by vote of people in 1963) providing that property of any married person acquired before or during marriage shall remain his or her sole and separate estate to be dealt with subject to such regulations and limitations as the General Assembly may prescribe (now, GS 52-1 enacts old Const. Art. X, sec. 6 which secures property to married women and contains no authorization for regulation by General Assembly). Adds new GS 52-2 authorizing every married person, subject to new GS 52-6 and GS 39-7 (requiring joinder of husband in wife's conveyance of her separate property) to contract with his or her separate property in same manner as if unmarried (now, GS 52-2 parallels present GS 39-7). Repeals as obsolete: GS 52-3 (authorizing married women to draw on her own bank account); GS 52-4 (requiring husband's joinder for conveyance or lease of wife's land); GS 52-5 (allowing wife to convey separate property without husband's assent where there is legal separation or husband is non compos mentis); GS 52-6 (authorizing wife's conveyance without joinder where husband abandons her); GS 52-7 (prohibiting husband's conveyance of wife's land without her consent and saving her land from liability for his debts); GS 52-8 (conferring on wife capacity to make will). Reenacts in substantially present language but with amendments making sections applicable to both husband and wife: GS 52-9 (new GS 52-3) (authorizing insurance on spouse's life); GS 52-10 (new GS 52-4)(securing to spouse separate earnings and tort damages); GS 52-14 (new GS 52-11) (relating to antenuptial contracts and torts); and GS 52-15 (new GS 52-12) (relating to postnuptial crimes and torts). Reenacts unchanged except for amendments to reflect new numbering of sections: present GS 52-10.1 (new GS 52-5, granting mutual tort actions to husband and wife); present GS 52-12 (new GS 52-6, private examination of wife for certain contracts with husband); GS 52-12.1 (new GS 52-7, validating certain contracts where private examination conducted by notary public); GS 52-12.3 (new GS 52-9, effect of absolute divorce on certificate failing to comply with new GS 52-6); GS 52-13 (new GS 52-10, relating to contracts between spouses generally and allowing ante-nuptial release of marital rights). Amends and reenacts GS 52-12.2 (new GS 52-8, validating certain contracts where private examination not held) to correct statutory reference and update applicability to June 20, 1963 (now, applies only to contracts executed between June 10, 1957 and June 30, 1959). HB 320 - Introduced by Galifianakis and Bailey

"To reenact G.S. 30-1, 30-2 and 30-3, relating to dissent from wills." [Re-enacts cited sections exactly as they appear in present codification. Act recites: (a) the decision of the Supreme Court in Dudley v. Staton, 257 N.C. 572 (1962) (which held these sections unconstitutional insofar as they allowed husband to dissent from wife's will); (b) the constitutional amendment proposed by 1963 SL ch. 1209 and approved by vote of people, which removed from the Constitution the provisions to which these sections had been held repugnant; and (c) the declared intent of the General Assembly to treat husband and wife alike as to dissent from wills. Provides that reenactment shall not be construed as legislative determination that, with respect to husband's dissent, GS 30-1 through -3 were invalid between date of certification of amendment and passage of this act, as indicated by SL 1963, Ch. 1209, Sec. 4.1 (which declared that "spouse" shall mean either husband or wife whenever it appears with reference to testate or intestate succession from and after date of certification of the amendment).] To Judiciary 1.

of North Carolina t 12 noon, April 14, 1965

In what he termed probably his last address to the current session of the General Assembly, Governor Moore made a strong appeal to the members of both houses assembled in Joint Session today for a many-faceted attack on the State's rising highway accident rate anddeath toll.

The Governor cited statistics to emphasize that highway accidents in North Carolina are "an epidemic more deadly than disease": in the last four years, highway deaths have increased 25%, injuries have increased 42% and total accidents have increased 38%, while there has been only an 18% increase in the number of motor vehicles. He urged that determination to correct the situation not be blocked by "individual inconvenience", "political ambition or popularity". As a remedy, the Governor proposed a broad range of antidotes to deal with the vehicle accident malady -- antidotes to reach both driver environment and driver habits. He stated as overall primary goals the greater use of existing manpower and resources, greater use of modern knowledge and existing research, strengthening existing programs and using new methods proven to be effective, and greater public understanding and support.

The primary new programs the Governor proposed were the creation of a North Carolina Traffic Safety Authrity and a University Highway Safety Research Center and the enactment of a Motor Vehicle Inspection Program.

The Traffic Safety Authority would serve as a coordinating board to develop the State's action program for traffic safety, provide continuing guidance of the overall attack on accidents, and guide public education on prevention programs and responsibility for safety. It would be headed by the Governor as chairman and include the heads of eleven State departments, commissions, and agencies, as well as two of the Legislature. (No funds were asked for the Authority.)

The Highway Safety Research Center would be created within the Consolidated University with the charge to encourage university-wide involvement, to provide objective analysis of current safety programs, to promote and participate in professional training in traffic safety, and to coordinate traffic accident prevention research. The Governor asked a budget of $100,000 for the biennium to establish the Center.

As expected, the Governor emphasized the importance of a Vehicle Inspection Program, pointing out that it would be the quickest way to increase highway safety. He stated that the records indicate that about 10% of highway accidents in NC are caused by mechanical defects and that other states claim an even higher percentage of accidents due to that cause. Twenty-one states reduced accidents as soon as their inspection programs were initiated. Countering some of the expected arguments from those who might be against such a program, he recommended annual inspection only of "those items absolutely essential to safe operation -- brakes, lights, steering mechanism, horn, and windshield wipers, tires and directional signals where required", and requiring no higher standards than the statutes presently require. He pledged that the program would be administered reasonably and properly in order to minimize public inconvenience. The State would select and supervise inspection stations and handle car owners' complaints, while allowing faulty cars to be repaired at any firm an owner chooses and be re-inspected free. The yearly inspection fee would be $1.50, with 25¢ going to the State to make the program self-supporting.

In addition to these three programs, Governor Moore urged the legislators to take the following actions:

1. Adopt reflectorized license plates for 1967 as a one-year experiment in reducing night-time accidents. This would cost approximately 13¢ per plate, or a total of $285,000, to be made available through the State Highway Fund.

2. Enact a law requiring outside mirrors on the driver's side of all new cars sold in NC after Jan. 1, 1966.

3. Provide the present 36-hour driver education course in public schools for every new driver under 18, whether in or out of school, instead of only for public school students; also, expand the safety education effort in the schools to each youths that "it is smart to be safe." These efforts, he estimated, would cost $4,245,273 for the biennium, but could be provided through adjustments in the present recommended budgets, made possible by enactment of the new Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

4. Authorize 50 additional patrolmen in each of the next four years, at a cost of $10,000 per man for the first year, financed from the State Highway Fund. He promised that the administration would seek to keep highway patrolmen on the highway and to work with court officials to reduce the time spent in court by patrolmen.

5. Not to weaken the present drunk driving laws.

6. Enact a law requiring mandatory imprisonment (2 to 90 days) for persons convicted of driving after suspension or revocation of license.

7. "Swift enactment" of the pending court legislation unifying the court system and vital to "making safe drivers out of dangerous drivers."

In his written text, Governor Moore requested laws requiring convictions for flagrant out-of-state violations to be considered in assessing points under the Driver License Point System, expanding the provisional license law to cover 18 and 19 year-olds, and approving the driver license compact. He also point d out two "dangerous loopholes" in the Driver's License Act which ought to be plugged by eliminating the present "no points" effect of "prayer for judgment continued" and "plea of nolo contendere".

During the course of his message, the Governor pointed out that almost half of the non-fatal accidents occur within city limits and urged local officials to support the State program with maximum local effort. He said tha passage of the $300 million road bond issue would create safer highways and that he would request the State Highway Commission to increase the portion of current highway funds for marking and signing highways and for reducing current engineering hazards.

Authorizes court to enter orders for support and maintenance of children of plaintiff and defendant in same manner as action for divorce, regardless of rights of husband and wife between themselves. 16.2 declares husbands not divorced but living in state of separation liable for wife's support if he is drunkard or spendthrift or if wife has grounds for divorce absolute or from bed and board. 16.3 declares husbands and fathers to be liable for support according to their means and condition in life in amount determined by court with regard to separate estate and earning capacity of wife. Order may require payment to wife for her individual support, or for both herself and children or for support of children only; order may secure payment from estate or earnings of husband or father. 16.4 authorizes husband or wife to bring action against other in Superior Court of wife's resident county to determine amount husband to pay wife for her individual support or for support of herself and children. 16.5 sets out required allegations. 16.6 authorizes plantiff (after 5 days' notice to defendant) to move in term or in chambers for hearing before resident judge of Superior Court of county where action begun, judge holding courts of the district where action begun, or any special judge living within bounds of district where action begun. Court may hear and determine issues on written affidavit or oral evidence or on both. 16.7 provides that rights and remedies of act may be prosecuted independently or in answer to divorce complaint (including bed and board) and in habeas corpus involving custody of children when husband and wife are petitioner and respondent. When action pursued independently, defendant may file cross-action or counterclaim for absolute divorce or divorce from bed and board. 16.8 provides that orders respecting support of children not affected by subsequest absolute divorce but court may modify order at any time upon motion of either party; orders respecting support of wife not affected by contemporaneous or subsequent absolute divorce except where wife institutes absolute divorce action, where wife has been found guilty of adultery, or for good cause shown at any time; provides that consent order or written separation agreement fixing support payable to wife for her individual support shall be given full effect in subsequent order affecting same unless, since execution of order or agreement, parties have resumed marital status and lived together as husband and wife. 16.9 prohibits orders under act without 5-day written notice to husband unless he has waived notice in writing, or has abandoned wife and left state, or is in parts unknown, or is about to dispose of his property for purpose of defeating wife's claim. 16.10 allows wife to verify her pleading as in ordinary civil actions, notwithstanding affidavit required by GS 50-8. 16.11 authorizes plaintiff or defendant to ask for custody of children either in original pleadings or by motion in the cause; court to enter orders in respect to custody as in habeas corpus proceeding; custody request to be in lieu of habeas corpus petition, but custody may be determined on habeas corpus writ if filed prior to pleadings or motion. 16.12 authorizes wife to ask for reasonable counsel fees which shall be allowed if court allows order for any of following: support of herself and children of marriage; support of herself individually; support of children only; granting custody of children or any of them to wife. 16.13 provides for trial as in case of contested divorce action on filing of answer denying material allegation of complaint and raising issues of fact. Committee substitute adopted differing from first committee substitute as follows: (1) Jurisdiction: Changes jurisdictional division between Wildlife Resources Comm'n (hereafter, WRC) and Dep't of Conservation and Development (hereafter, C & D) by redefining inland game fish to include those species of fresh-water fish, wherever found, and migratory salt-water fish found in inland fishing waters (originally, fresh-water fish found in inland fishing waters), as to which there is an important element of sport in taking and which are denominated as game fish by WRC. Stipulates that no species of fish of commercial importance not classified as a game fish in commercial fishing waters as of Jan. 1, 1965, may be classed as inland game fish in coastal fishing waters by WRC without concurrence of C & D. Make conforming changes throughout bill to harmonize with jurisdictional change regarding inland game fish. Specifies that WRC has jurisdiction over waterfowl food plants in coastal fishing waters, except that to the extent such plants affect conservation of marine and estuarine resources, C.& D is given concurrent jurisdiction. (2) Commercial Fisheries: Adds provision that individual oyster and clam license is required for taking oysters and clams from public or private grounds for commercial use by any means whatever (originally, for taking from public or private grounds by any means whatever). Authorizes individual to sell up to $500 (originally, $200) legally acquired fish other than oysters and clams to other than dealers on casual, noncommercial basis without being deemed a fish dealer. Fixes contribution of shellfish dealers at not more than half (originally, not less than half) of oyster shell that come into possession of dealer. Makes offenses within the last three (originally, five) years only ones to be considered in administrative revocation or suspension of licenses issued by C & D. Makes prohibition against fishing within 750 feet of ocean pier effective whether or not pier owner places buoys to mark such distance (originally, not effective unless such buoys placed). Amends provision respecting registration of grants and of rights of fishery in navigable waters to provide that C & D must give notice of such requirement at least once each calendar year for three years in newspaper of general circulation throughout all coastal counties. Specifies that proclamations of Director of C & D must be issued at least 48 hours in advance of effective date and time. (3) WRC: Makes price of resident special trout license of WRC conform with existing statute: $1.25 with 25¢ allocated to license agent (originally, $1.15 with 15¢ to license agent). Deletes proviso that fishermen taking trout from commercial trout holding ponds must have first secured appropriate hook-and-line license. Specifies that fish propagation licenses of WRC authorize artificial propagation and sale (originally, artificial propagation) of fish. Modifies fishing license exemption applicable to servicemen to deem them residents of the State for purpose of purchasing resident state hook-and-line license (originally, residents of State and of county in which facility located with regard to all fishing licenses of WRC). Deletes requirement that Executive Director of WRC revoke licenses and permits of fish propagators and permittees upon conviction of fisheries offense. Deletes mandatory WRC license and permit revocation of minimum of one year for specified offenses. Adds substance of existing GS 113-251 relating to obstruction of passage of fish in inland fishing waters under inland fisheries article enforced by WRC. Deletes publication provisions applicable to regulations of WRC and substitutes provision that fishing regulations of WRC must be published at least once in some newspaper published in and having general circulation throughout State. Modifies language relating to funding of money credited to, held by, or to be received by WRC to apply only to fishing license revenues and to delete detailed provisions referring to separate funding or not. Makes various technical amendments. (4) Deletes prima facie evidence provisions applicable to status of waters in portions of bill applicable to both agencies.
